Is your school moving into a standards-based system, and you are looking for more examples from a music classroom? Here is an opportunity to discuss the research and practical implementation of standards-based teaching and learning (and assessment and grading) in a music classroom with an experienced music educator. Our work will include:

- Understanding the standards-based system relative to the music classroom
- Developing reporting standards in music
- Examining standards-based assessments of singing and playing instruments
- Examining standards-based assessments of knowledge such as rhythm or music vocabulary
- Recognizing the prominence of "participation" in music classes and how reporting on that could look in a standards-based system
- Assigning grades from standards-based evidence
- Measuring growth with standards-based assessments
- Thinking collaboratively with others who teach the same music classes

Stay tuned! We anticipate one graduate credit will be available from Viterbo University.

Workshop facilitator is Dr. Wendy Barden, respected Minnesota music educator, national clinician, and published author with the Neil A. Kjos Music Company. Before retiring in 2013, Barden served 21 years as K-12 Music Coordinator in the Osseo, MN school district. Currently, she is teaching the International Baccalaureate music class at Park Center High School (in a standards-based system) and works with music educators across the country through her company, Segue Consulting Partners. Barden holds a B.S., M.A., and Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota. She is honored to be a member of Phi Beta Mu and the Minnesota Music Educators Hall of Fame.
